

WeWantTakeOut.com
PRESS RELEASE

For Immediate Distribution

August 24, 2006:
Hopewell Junction, NY

A new Hudson Valley based website started this summer, aiming to please the hungry. WeWantTakeOut.com , called “the best innovation in take-out since food”, promotes local area restaurants by providing their full menu, contact information, driving directions, and even coupons to customers.

For restaurants, this is an inexpensive and attractive way to reach their current customers, as well as potential new customers. For under $2.00 a day, restaurants are featured online 24 hours a day, every day.

Consumers enjoy WeWantTakeOut.com because it gives them a wide variety of restaurant menus in one location, whether they are looking for a specific take-out menu for dinner tonight, or browsing for a place to take the family this coming weekend.

The site was created by Patricia Suriano and her husband Steve, and is based out of the Suriano’s photo & graphics retail store in Hopewell Junction. While Steve designs and maintain the website, Patricia travels throughout the Hudson Valley meeting with restaurant owners.

For additional information, check out the website at www.WeWantTakeOut.com or by phone at (845)559-7199, and remember:

“Not cooking tonight? Visit this site! WeWantTakeout.com!”